Commander's Message

Cdr Jeff Short, JN-IN

My new Ranger Tug R29CB, aptly named “Boat Show Special,” is safe and sound on the hard, tucked away for the winter. My boating equipment is piled up in the basement waiting for a nasty winter day so that I may sort through it and get rid of the accumulated junk that seemed so necessary when I lugged it down to the boat in the Spring, but didn't seem as important when I had to haul it all back up the hill, unused, at the end of boating season.

It is that time of year again. I do not mean holiday time with pies, gifts and bright decorations. I mean merit mark season. This is the time of year that we make a tally of all the efforts that ASPS members have made in supporting ASPS and furthering our missions of boating education, civic service and fraternity. Aside from the satisfaction of serving our squadron in those missions, the only payback we get is a merit mark. Receiving a merit mark is an indication of our appreciation for all that you do.

Merit marks do not come easy. You do not get one just for being a member and attending dinner meetings. Merit marks have specific requirements, such as at least 10 vessel safety inspections or 12 hours of volunteer service or a certain number of courses taught. On the other hand, a merit mark rarely accounts for ALL of the effort many of our active members actually put into keeping ASPS a vibrant organization. Whether a member puts in 12 hours or 120 hours, they get one single merit mark.

What goes into actually getting a merit mark? Each merit mark requires a written account of all the effort each member has put in over the year. This account is written by our merit mark coordinator. The lady behind every merit mark you receive is Lee Myers. Lee Myers has been the ASPS Merit Mark Coordinator for the past 25 years! For 25 years she has worked tirelessly throughout the year to track who has done what for ASPS, write a glowing account of it and submit it up the chain, ultimately to the Chief Commander, for approval.

Every year she has to cajole Bridge Officers, department heads and committee chairs to recount the efforts of their volunteers. She then submits, via a database on the USPS website, a succinct write-up extolling these efforts. A great deal of creative writing skill is required, particularly if she is not given a lot to work with. The current merit mark database is fairly easy to manage with drop downs and fill-in-the-blanks. Yet this still takes considerable effort and time on her part. She remembers when there was no internet and she had to submit hand written paragraphs for each merit mark.

Every submission goes to a Merit Mark Area Monitor who accepts them as written or sends them back for further embellishment. Accepted merit mark submissions are then passed on to the USPS Chief Commander who has to approve every single one of them. ASPS has a very active membership and Lee submits nearly 50 MM proposals per year and, to her credit, almost none are ever rejected.

Lee became a member of ASPS in 1996, the year after marrying Stu Myers. Stu had been a member since the 1970's! Stu and Lee remember when the ASPS meetings and classes were held at the Annapolis Yacht Club, and each ASPS member had to be escorted by an AYC member. Lee was the SEO and XO and became our commander in 2003. She served many years as the Chair of the Membership Committee at both squadron and district level. For many years, Lee and Stu were program chairs in charge of special events such as Founders Day, the Holiday Party, hospitality suite, etc. Back in the day, ASPS always had an entry in the EYC Lighted Boat Parade each December, and their boat, Moonshadow, took first place!

Stu went up the Bridge and became CDR in 2000. Stu has been an avid instructor for decades. He used to receive thank you cards from his appreciative students. When jet skis became popular, Stu instructed some of the first jet ski safety courses for DNR. I can remember taking several Operations Training courses from Stu. Stu also led the ASPS summer cruises for many years. Back then, it took months of preparation to pull off a cruise. He and Lee would travel all around the bay, scoping out marinas and talking with nearby restaurants and shop owners to ensure that everything would go off without a hitch come cruise time. Stu served as Chair of the District 5 Rules Committee and continues to this day as chair of the ASPS Rules Committee. Stu has served many times as squadron Flag Lt. He was my Flag Lt during my first command in 2018.

Both Lee and Stu have been very active at USPS National level having served for years on the National Historian Committee. Lee was on the National Membership Committee and Stu on the Tech and Pubs Committee. Both were on the committee for the 2000 National Conference in Baltimore. During that conference, Stu and Carole Tulip arranged and conducted all aspects of the cruise to Fort McHenry, which included fireworks!

Lee and Stu Myers have been great friends of Lorrie and me, and have always been there to support us over the years. I truly appreciate their dedication to ASPS and their friendship. When you see Stu and Lee Myers, be sure to thank them for all they have done for ASPS.

Now it's time to splice the mainbrace.

Be safe and stay healthy.

The Fun Continues!

Here is something to do after the Annapolis Sail and Power Squadron Holiday Party! Good news! The fun doesn't stop when the party ends at Pirates Cove! Associate Members Susan Rudy and David Blades have made arrangements for us to have the opportunity to visit the Galesville Heritage Museum that afternoon. The museum is within walking distance of Pirates Cove at 988 Main Street, Galesville, MD.

This museum has 5 rooms of artifacts, photos, and even boats that tell stories about the history of this area on the Chesapeake Bay. It can easily accommodate 25 to 30 visitors. There is no admission, but they do accept donations as a nonprofit.

The museum is making arrangements to open just for our group! We hope that you take advantage of the opportunity to visit this corner of history in Anne Arundel County.

See you soon!

Georgiana Maszczenski

Executive Officer
Lt/C Ralph Leasure, AP

After just returning from Florida, we are instantly reminded that it is not still boating weather here. Unfortunately, we were not able to get the boat into the dealer for winterization and storage before now. So now we have to deal with the conditions as they are. Hopefully, it will get done this week. We also got a taste of the cooler weather early last week when the jet stream dropped down from Canada and brought temps in the low 40s to South Florida. Fortunately, it didn't last and the rest of the week improved to what you would expect.

I'm sorry we missed the Fall Conference meeting. It looks like it was a fun and educational get together. Some of the changes that have been made appear to be for the better.

Congratulations to the new Senior Navigators, many from our squadron. The new exam guidelines look to be a welcome addition to many who can take advantage of an online option. It was nice to see a new line-up of on-the-water courses and how they fit together. It was an area that was never discussed much and the charts make it more clear. The same applies to the requirements for all the ranks, I'm sure, put together by Mike Maszczenski. Thanks for all the hard work, Mike.

We're looking forward to the squadron's Christmas / Holiday Party. If last year's was any indication, it will be a blast. I can't wait to see what Jeff and Lorrie come up with for attire this time around.

It's not too early to start thinking about the National Meeting. This year it will be held at The Embassy Suites Kinston, Myrtle Beach, South Carolina. It runs from February 8, 2026, through February 15th. Please note that every room has an Ocean View. Every room is a suite and there is a complimentary breakfast. I hope to see you there. There is a cruise to the Caribbean after the meeting for those so inclined.

Happy Holidays! Ralph Leasure, XO

Instructors wishing to teach ABC require NASBLA certification (USPS instructor certification). This must be renewed every 4 years. If you are, or have been, a USPS certified instructor, this seminar renews your certificate for 4 years. If you are not a USPS certified instructor and you are teaching USPS courses, this seminar will not renew nor grant a certificate, but it will provide you with a good review or introduction to good instructional tool and techniques. This course is open to all USPS instructors.

Nearly everybody uses GPS in the car or on a smartphone. But, your marine GPS is a different animal. In this seminar, you'll learn how to choose a suitable GPS chartplotter if your boat doesn't already have one. More importantly, you'll learn how to make the best use of it: how to create waypoints, build and execute routes, and monitor your progress along the way. And, there's more! The seminar will explain how modern GPS chartplotters integrate with other electronic systems onboard, including VHF marine radio, radar, and autopilot. Your GPS will tell you where you are and how to find your destination. Start learning how to use your GPS today!

D/5 Fall Educational Conference Lancaster, PA November 7-9

Administrative Officer*Lt/C Bruce Arey, JN

Now that you have winterized your boat but still have the sailing itch, here are five excellent destinations for bareboat sailing charters — each with unique appeal, conditions, and suitability depending on your experience level.

1. British Virgin Islands (Caribbean)

Frequently cited as the go-to bareboat destination.

Blue Life Charters+3moorings.com+3Nautilus Yachting+3

Relatively short passages between islands, good anchorage depth, reliable trade winds. moorings.com+1

Ideal for mixed experience levels and those wanting a somewhat relaxed but well-equipped charter. Virgin Island Sailing@+1

Keep in mind:

Peak season can be busy, moorings and anchorages may fill early.

You'll want to check with the charter operator for specifics (insurance, qualifications, etc).

2. Croatia – Dalmatian Coast & Islands

Beautiful Mediterranean sailing: many islands, historic towns, scenic coastlines.

Nautilus Yachting+2modernsailing.com+2

Best time: late May through September. modernsailing.com

Considerations:

Requires a bit more experience: med-type mooring (med-style berths), potentially busier harbors. modernsailing.com+1

Check licensing/qualification requirements (e.g., VHF license in Croatia). SailChecker

3. Greece – Ionian & Aegean

Vast number of islands, rich sailing culture, good infrastructure for charter. sailyachts.com+1

Good for moderate experience level, especially in more sheltered parts like the Ionian Sea.

Considerations:

Some areas may require more advanced skills (narrow straits, med-style docking, variable winds). modernsailing.com

Picking the right base/region within Greece is key (some islands are more remote).

4. The Bahamas – especially the Abacos

Stunning water colors, many cays and islands to explore, classic “island-hop” sailing.

Outbound Sailing+1

Shallow, protected waters in many places – relaxing for cruising.

Considerations:

Navigation around shallow reefs/bottoms requires attention (especially if you're used to deeper water).

Seasonality matters (hurricane season in the Caribbean/Bahamas region).

5. Thailand – Andaman Sea & surrounding islands

Exotic scenery, dramatic islands, less congested in terms of charter compared to Europe/Caribbean.

modernsailing.com+1

Good “level 1” bareboat choices for those wanting something a bit different. modernsailing.com

Considerations:

Logistics (flights, provisioning, supplies) may be more involved depending on how remote your route is.

Weather patterns (monsoon, seasonal winds) are important to check.

□ Things to consider when choosing a bareboat destination

Season & weather: Every region has a “best time” for sailing. E.g., Mediterranean: late spring to early autumn. Caribbean: winter/spring peak. modernsailing.com+1

Skill & qualifications required: Many charter operators will require proof of experience, or specific licenses (e.g., VHF, ICC). SailChecker+1

Type of sailing you want: Short hops between islands? Open sea passages? Remote anchorages vs busy marinas?

Logistics & charter base: How easy to reach, provisioning, local regulations, what’s included in charter.

Budget & group size: Costs vary widely by destination, season, boat size.

Experience level of your crew: If some are novice, choosing a more sheltered region or chartering with a skipper for part of the trip might help.
