Summer is here and it is time to get out and do some boating and other activities. Our annual Beltsville clean-up and VSC was very wet due to rain at the lake, but we had a good time at Joey B's afterwards for lunch. Thank you to all those who participated and helped make the best of a rainy day.

We have set up a trip to Raystown Lake on June 8th to do VSCs and some recon for a possible rendezvous there next year. Two of our new members, Joy and Scott Barbara, have been gracious to help with finding motel and slip information from Seven Seasons Marina. We will keep everyone informed as to how the arrangements are going. I'm looking forward to our rendezvous at Haven Harbor this summer; boating and cooking out are always a great time. Thank you to all who have helped to make arrangements, and to those who are attending.

Let's all have a great fun-filled season of boating. Be safe and aware of all that is going on around you.

Congratulations to our member, Oliver Nowroozani, who is graduating high school and going off to college in California! I hope you have a great Fall marching with the USC Tribute to Troy marching band.

VSC Corner

By: Crd Keith Knoblach, AP

With the boating season getting into full swing, now is the time to get your Vessel Safety Check done. Our Beltzville Clean-up was not a very good success due to the rain. Only one VSC was done, and we saw maybe four boats at the lake. We have been invited by Joy and Scott Barbara, who recently joined our squadron, to help with VSCs at Raystown Lake on June 8th, which is a great opportunity for Delhigh.

Here are few things to check before heading out onto the water this season:

Check to be sure your navigation lights are working.

Check fuel lines for cracks and leaks.

Check your fire extinguisher for charge and that it isn't more than 12 years old and be sure it is US Coast Guard approved.

Check the condition of your PFD's looking for tears, worn straps and labels.

Let's all have a great season on the water and stay prepared for any mishaps. Always be safe and render help to those in need.

Executive Officer's Report

P/C Robert Rendish, P

We had our annual Lake Beltzville Clean Up and Vessel Safety Check event on Saturday May 18.

This is an event where we gather at the lake, launch our boats, and patrol the shorelines for trash and debris to help keep the lake clean, while we give something back to the community in which we live and boat.

We also use this event to introduce boaters to America's Boating Club Lehigh Valley, Delhigh Power Squadron, to make boaters aware of our safe boating organization, and the various social events that we hold on a regular basis.

Also, and more importantly, we provide Vessel Safety Checks to any boater who is interested in learning to be a safer boater and helping to make their vessel a safer boat on the water.

Unfortunately, the weather this year was not very cooperative. We set up our canopy with free information about our Squadron, membership, and Vessel Safety Check information. Because of the rain we did not launch our boats. Instead, we stayed under our canopy, hoping to introduce ourselves to any boater coming out that day, and offer our VSCs.

Unfortunately, it was not an active day. Only one Vessel Safety check was performed, but what I was impressed with was our members who came to the event in the rainy weather, promoting the United States Power Squadrons, America's Boating Club, Delhigh Power Squadron.

We, like many other volunteer organizations, have a diminishing membership, where bringing in new members is an incredible challenge. We do our best to represent ourselves at as many boat shows in our local area as possible, and also provide the Safe Boating Class at least twice a year, and possibly more in hopes of gaining new members.

I am honored to be a part of a volunteer organization who has members willing to give up their precious time and energy to provide these types of events, who teach the Safe Boating Classes, who become Bridge officers and organizers, and continue to keep this important Safe Boating organization alive.

A sincere and grateful thank you to all of you.
To the breezes.

Administrative Officer's Report

Our latest wine tasting at Black River Farms and Vineyard was a fun time. The live band was very good and there is also a distillery for those that prefer scotch and bourbon.

The weather for Sock Burning was fantastic. Lots of skeet shooting, tractor rides and hot dog eating was enjoyed. Oliver read the Ode to Sock Burning and all the socks went up in flames.

Summer is almost here and with it many of our favorite Delhigh events. Our Ice Cream Social is Wednesday, June 5th at the Montuori Residence. As usual, hotdogs and macaroni and cheese will be served as well as many flavors of delicious ice cream.

Our July meeting is at the Nowroozani Pool. We will BBQ hot dogs and hamburgers for after the meeting.

Saturday, June 20th is an opportunity to get your boat out or ride on a boat at our Trailerboat Rendezvous. We will BBQ at the Nowroozani's again after enjoying a morning and afternoon on the lake.

Don't forget to RSVP soon for our August Meeting at Coca Cola Park for a game between the Iron Pigs and the Rochester Red Wings. We will have our own patio and buffet with seats to watch the game.

Educational Officer's
Report
P/C Kathleen Nowroozani, SN

Our April America's Boating Course was well attended and we had 10 students pass the course. Congratulations to Scott Snyder, Steph Snyder, Joseph Feher, Tyler Herrera, Alicia Cichowski, Allyson Christopher, Alan Magocs, Logan Christopher, Raquel Clark and Walter Felton! We hope to see you at an event soon. A big Thank You to Peter's Marine for hosting our class. Also a big Thank You to all of the instructors and members that showed up to support us.

A Fall ABC-3 class is in the works to be taught at Highway Marine, at their request, and information for that will be available soon.

As our boats are being prepared to get in the water, keep in mind the courses that we can teach and let me know if there is anything that you would like us to offer in the Fall or Winter.

In the meantime, if you come across some free time on a rainy day take a look here: Online courses | America's Boating Club® \(enrolmart.com\), where you will find webinars that can be completed in a few hours, as well as longer courses to keep you busy.

May the seas lie smooth before you. May a gentle breeze forever fill your sails. May sunshine warm your face, and kindness warm your soul.

Wear It, Wear It Right Life Jackets Save Lives!

1 CHECK THE LABEL

The label will tell you:

- Whether the life jacket is Coast Guard approved
- The size of the jacket
- How the jacket can be used

Sizes run from infant to extra extra large. Adult life jackets will not work for children until they weigh about 90 pounds. Children's life jackets should have a loop on the collar and a strap between the legs.

2 CHECK FOR DAMAGE

Check that there are no broken parts and no mold or rips in the fabric.

3 FASTEN UP

Fasten up all buckles, zippers and straps. Adjust straps so that the jacket fits snugly.

4 CHECK FOR PROPER FIT

- Lift the shoulders of the life jacket
- Make sure it does not slip above the chin or ears
- It should feel snug, yet comfortable. A properly fitted life jacket keeps your head and shoulders above water. You will be able to swim with it, too.

5 WEAR IT!

A life jacket only works if it's worn. Take the time to be prepared. Make sure you have and wear the right life jacket before you go out in the water.

What to Do if Your Boat's Engine Dies

Losing power while boating can be a daunting experience if you're not prepared. Here are four tips to improve your safety.

This VHF radio exchange between a boat skipper and the marine-towing-service dispatcher still sticks in my mind.

"Hurry!" the boater pleaded. "My motor died, and we're drifting toward the rocks!"

"Do you have an anchor?" the dispatcher calmly asked.

"Yes," the breathless boater -replied.

"Please put your anchor down to keep from drifting any farther, and one of our boats will be there as soon as possible," the dispatcher responded.

"Oh, OK!" the boater said with a hint of relief in his voice. "I didn't even think of that. Thanks."

CREW SAFETY

In -emergency boating situations, obvious -solutions can sometimes become obfuscated amid panic and chaos. That's why it's important to think through potential emergencies such as loss of power well ahead of time and plan a course of action in the event this occurs. You might even run practice drills. Preparedness and forethought promote a rational, calm and quick response to emergencies.

In the lack of preparedness, the first instinct is often an attempt to fix the issue or immediately call for help. But prudent seamanship dictates that first and foremost, you should focus on making sure your crew remains safe. And that usually depends on keeping the boat out of harm's way.

How you secure the boat might well depend on the situation, sea conditions, and other factors such as anchoring options and the availability of alternate onboard propulsion systems. Here are five ways keep your crew safe while you explore a fix or call for a tow when the main propulsion system fails.

ANCHOR DOWN

Given the appropriate depth, drop the anchor as soon as you lose power, even if there's plenty of distance between your position and potential hazards. Current and wind can push the boat along at a surprising clip, closing the distance with alarming speed, especially if you have your head down trying to resuscitate the motor and not paying attention to approaching threats.

This, of course, hinges on -having ground tackle that's in good condition, sized properly, and ready to deploy at a moment's notice. Regularly inspect your anchor and rode. Also avoid -stowing ground tackle deep inside a -locker where it's difficult to extract quickly in an emergency situation.

Pole-style shallow-water anchors represent yet another way to keep a boat in position. Found on many bay boats, flats skiffs and bass boats, these devices rely on articulating arms and fiberglass spikes stabbed into the lake or sea bed. As the name implies, a shallow-water anchor works only in depths to about 7 to 10 feet, and it loses effectiveness when big waves prevail.

SEA ANCHOR

If you lose power out at sea, the water might prove too deep for ground tackle, negating the possibility of anchoring up. At the same time, drifting in heavy seas can threaten safety. For example, if the boat tends to drift with the stern to the waves, seas might broach the transom and swamp the boat.

In this situation, it is a good idea to deploy a sea anchor from a bow cleat. Working like an underwater parachute, a sea anchor deployed in this manner tends to keep the bow riding into the waves, resulting in a drift that's less likely to swamp the boat. If the boat tends to drift beam to the seas, a sea anchor deployed from the bow can eliminate the uncomfortable, violent and -potentially dangerous roll.

Make sure your sea anchor and its line are sufficiently sized for your boat. Also ensure that there's plenty of line to keep the sea -anchor submerged as the bow pitches in heavy seas.

Read Next: How To Install an Auxiliary Outboard Engine

AUXILIARY POWER

Another option to keep in mind is auxiliary power in the event that main power conks out. This often comes in the form of a smaller "kicker" motor, such as a 9.9 to 25 hp outboard on a transom bracket. A kicker can push you away from danger and back home, albeit at a slow pace.

Yet, lowering the kicker, priming the engine, and getting it started can still take time. Also there's no guarantee that a seldom-used auxiliary outboard will immediately start, especially if the issue affecting the big motor(s) is lack of fuel. So it's still a good idea to first deploy an anchor before you begin fussing about with a kicker.

Kickers aren't the only form of backup power. Many boats today have bow-mounted trolling motors powered by a separate battery bank from the main engine(s). Depending on current, wind and sea conditions, these can hold a boat in position in spot-lock mode or, just as importantly, -propel you away from danger.

HISTORIC PENN'S CAVE & wildlife park

Did You Know?

You can take a guided boat tour on a flat-bottom motor boat through cavern passageways in historic Penn's Cave, which is the only cave in PA on the National Register of Historic Places. There are tons of stalactite and stalagmite formations, including "The Statue of Liberty" and "The Garden of the Gods." This cave is a natural wonder of our region located in Centre Hall, PA. It is an all-water cave at a constant temperature of 52 degrees year round, and is considered an active and living cave, so water drips are part of the experience.
